Outline your relevant raiding experience, including the guilds you were in previously and why you left them. *

I have played wow since december of 2004, my parents got me the game when I was a wee lad for Christmas and I've been a video game addict ever since. In vanilla I wasn't a hardcore player although I did clear MC / BWL and ZG with my cousins guild who were hardcore raiders on the server blackrock. In BC I played with friends and didn't raid very hardcore at all, did kara / gruul's / mags / and a lot of dungeons / pvp. Wrath was when I became a little more serious and by ICC I had joined a guild where we progressed to 11/12H pre nerf but the guild ended up falling apart because leadership had no faith in H lich king progression and I ended up becoming someone who led a lot of GDKP's at the end of wrath with some friends just to make easy gold. Cataclysm I raided at a semi hardcore level and cleared all content up to warmaster blackhorn in DS before taking a small break and then coming back to clear it once it was nerfed. During mists of pandaria I raided everything on heroic and cleared it ahead of the curve and then again on mythic in SOO once they changed things to mythic raiding. In warlords of draenor I cleared everything cutting edge up to blackhand and took a break in HFC on mythic xul progression missing xul / tyrant / manny and archi for my WOD raiding experience. In legion I raided with a guild named pixilated on US deathwing for EN / took a break because the guild was god awful and killed my motivation for the game, I came back at the start of NH and raided with a guild named High Five on Area 52 before transferring to Bleeding hollow after killing guldun a couple of times to the guild Red October where I raided with them for a few weeks to pass my trial before I had a graphics card die out and lost my grandfather in the same week so I decided to take a break from wow for that time being. My current BFA experience is raiding with this guild Resistance to get some logs for the first tier before finding a better guild to raid with (why I'm applying here) since finding a new guild with no TOS / Antorus logs would have been a bit difficult. I am currently 4/8M in Uldir.

What resources do you use to keep up with your class? *

My class discord, analyze my logs, run mythic + to try different builds and constantly improve myself and my dps.

Why do you want to join Potent? What sets you apart from other players? *

Feel free to brag as much as you want. If you're good at something, tell us.

I want to join Potent because I have looked through your logs / read your wowprogress page and liked what I saw. I believe you guys are an efficient guild that is able to get shit done with the time you're given to raid. I really am just looking for an environment of good players who can work together to get content down and have a fun time doing it and from what I've seen I believe that this could be the place.

One thing that could set me apart from other players would be that I am willing to sacrifice my own dps (as in trying to worry about ranking) in order to step up and get something done that will benefit the raid. For example, I have been asked before during my cooldowns in the 3rd room on mother to drop a gateway when I should be going ham on the boss trying to use my CDs and worrying about my damage but instead I've been the only warlock to step up and drop the gate while the other warlocks ignore the raid leader. Another example would be Zekvoz where people tab target and dot the adds that are not supposed to be broken from CC and I step up without being told to spam fear on the mob until its time to kill it so that nobody is being killed by random void bolts. I am a good player who is constantly striving to improve my game play and who is always working to stay at the highest level I possibly can be at with my character. My neck is level 30 on my warlock and I have a 375 fury warrior that has a level 29 neck as well. When I play I do my best to pull my own weight and never am okay with being average and I think I could be a great addition to your raid team with my work effort / dedication.

Tell us a little about yourself. *

I am a 25 year old college student who's currently finishing my last year in school pursuing a business-finance degree. I enjoy gaming / working out with most of my free time and am extremely competitive in anything I do.
