Outline your relevant raiding experience, including the guilds you were in previously and why you left them. *

For most of my WoW 'career,' I have been with the same guild that has been pretty casual since MoP (Falcon Knights-Sentinels). At the start of BFA, I wanted to start raiding Mythic semi-hardcore, so I joined a guild that had just started to reform (Faceroll-Arthas). Much of our time during Uldir was spent recruiting to get closer to a full raid team, so it was difficult to get far through progression. However, we did what we could with the people we had and were able to get 3/8M by the end of the tier. Unfortunately, the guild had always been a little unstable, with the GM and co-leaders kicking people more often than I would have liked, and eventually I became one of them after telling one of the co-leaders that I was getting slightly demotivated because of our lack of progression (I did have some other issues with the guild, but I would rather not get into them), as I did not know beforehand that the guild was reforming (although that part was my bad, as I should have checked). The next morning I woke up to find myself kicked from the guild, and now I am looking for a new home. However, I am still happy that I did join them, as they helped me get into mythic raiding and provided me with a decent home for a couple months, and there were some great people in that guild.

What resources do you use to keep up with your class? *

Storm, Earth, & Lava, Shaman Discord, Bloodmallet, occasionally Icy Veins

Provide a screenshot of your UI in a raid environment. *

I have been using the default UI because it works for me, and would rather not go through the trouble of screenshotting it. However, if you insist I can provide one. I am more than happy to change my UI if needed.

Why do you want to join Potent? What sets you apart from other players? *

Feel free to brag as much as you want. If you're good at something, tell us.

I want a guild that fits in with my schedule well and is decent at progression. I understand that my lack of Mythic raiding history might make me look like a weaker candidate, however I strongly believe that I am more than capable of performing mechanics well while also doing a good amount of DPS. After all, everyone has to start somewhere. I believe myself to be quite knowledgeable about my main spec and that I can play it very well. I enjoy challenging myself, and doing difficult challenges in other games and thinking strategically. I am also usually very patient. I enjoy raiding and am enthusiastic to raid on Mythic because I enjoy dealing with the mechanics of various fights and having to think fast. Most of all, I enjoy having fun and want to play WoW to enjoy my playtime and see all there is to see.

Tell us a little about yourself. *

I enjoy socializing and bantering with friends, so in my past guild I hung out in Discord quite often. I try my best to suppress myself from getting too annoyed or frustrated with anything, however I still need to work on it a little bit (although I would never go yelling on Discord or anything if I did get frustrated; I do keep it to myself if I do lose my cool a bit). Regardless, I enjoy joking around and having fun and enjoy having an atmosphere to suit. During raids, I am able to focus well most of the time, if I do start to wane in mechanical ability it will usually be if I am tired late in the night (although Potent has raid times ending 1 hour earlier than my old guild, so this could be different), however it might behoove me anyway to take a nap if I am able to before raid time. I have played WoW for at least 12 years (albeit casually for the majority of it), so it is something that I have quite a strong bond with. Anyway, thank you for your consideration, and I am happy to talk about anything if you decide to follow up.
